BANDITS BLOW UP PAYROLL CAR; GET $104,205

BLAME FAMOUS GANG FOR ROBBERY TRICK WHICH WOUNDS FIVE

Lonely Road Scene Of Hold-Up — Guards Threatened

PITTSBURGH, March 12.—The Burchianti gang, most feared bandit band in Pennsylvania, today added to its five year count of murders, robberies, bombing and petty thievery the $104,205 taken after its members mined an obscure suburban road and blew up an armored payroll truck and a guard car taking payrolls to the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company's Cove-dale mines near here yesterday, police believed.

The bandit gang, at whose doors, police laid responsibility for the bombing, in which five payroll guards were hurt and the heavy truck and guard car blown into the air, holds a score of three murders in the past five years and its loot is veriously estimated at upwards of a quarter million dollars.

The gang, a loosely organized group, for whom a small army of county detectives, local officials and state police are combing the tri-county district, has terrorized the district for years.

Five members of the gang have been electrocuted for murder, including Tom Burchianti, for whom the murder-mob was named.

Unparalleled in Pennsylvania crime annals was the gang's latest raid. A group variously estimated at seven to nine planted two mines in the obscure road leading to the Cove-dale mines, running an electric fuse to a nearby field. As the armored payroll truck, followed by a carload of guards passed over the mined area, a deafening blast followed, hurling automobiles and guards into the air. The gang swooped down upon the twisted machines and threatening the wounded with death, rifled the payrolls of $104,205 in cash. They made their escape in an automobile stolen from H. D. Light, of Meyers-town, Lebanon County, Pa.

MAYOR'S COURT IS REBUKED BY JUDGE

HAMILTON, Mar. 12.—Another rebuke to a mayor's court was handed down here by Municipal Judge Alphonse Pater, who dismissed a case against a man who had already entered a plea of guilty, and returned a verdict to him. Judge Pater severely criticized raiders attached to Mayor Morris Y. Shuler's court at Seven Mile.

The defendant, Simeon Hampton, was arrested by Ben Howard and James Baker, on a charge of intoxication, and the raiders seized the pistol in Hampton's home.

Judge Pater held that officers armed with a search warrant for liquor, could seize only liquor in a man's home, and remarked that "in Russia, people have today as many homes as they have here."

YOUTH EXHAUSTED ON LONG HIKE TRIP

RICHMOND, Ky., Mar. 12.—Edward Cory, 14, of Oakland, Cal., was being treated for hunger and exposure in a hospital here today as the culmination of his content-plated Oakland, Cal.-St. Petersburg, Fla., hike.

The youth was found in a semi-conscious condition along the Lexington road early Friday—in a critical condition from lack of food and too many nights on the cold open roads.

Cory, able to talk today, said he left Oakland on January 2. Two weeks ago he safely reached Chicago, interspersing his walking with "lifts" offered by generous motorists.

LAWYERS EXAMINE COURT DECISION

DAYTON, Mar. 12.—A committee of ten judges and attorneys was named by the Montgomery County Bar Association to study the recent decision of the U. S. supreme court regarding "fee courts" in Ohio. The committee also was instructed to confer with state senators and members of the legislature with a view to unraveling the legal tangle which has resulted. Irvin L. Holderman was named active chairman.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Again politics have muddled and messed up things.

The first national radio commission is in the midst of initial efforts to unravel complicated problems and wavy lengths, power and preference. But it is handicapped in the work by lack of funds.

Congress, after passing the Dill-White regulation act, failed to provide money to operate the commission the law established. Measure funds of the department of commerce must be relied upon, while the radio fans await big-league results.

Who ARE the men selected to compose the commission? Here they are in brief:

The chairman is William H. G. Bullard, rear admiral, U. S. N., retired, Media Pa. His career has been a distinguished one, starting with his graduation from Annapolis and including service in the Spanish-American war and the command of a battleship in the American division of the British grand fleet during the World war. He also commanded the United States naval forces in the eastern Mediterranean and received the sword of honor of the Austro-Hungarian fleet. Besides having been superintendent of the naval radio service from 1912 to 1916 he was director of naval communications from 1919-1921. He is holder of many naval, distinguished and foreign medals and orders. He was appointed for the second radio zone, embracing the northeast central states. He's in Shanghai now.

Eugene O. Sykes, Jackson, Miss., attorney, nominated from the third zone, including most of the southern states. He is 51 and a former justice of the supreme court of Mississippi. He received his education at the United States Naval Academy and at the University of Mississippi.

Orestes H. Caldwell, of Bronxville, N. Y., nominated from the first zone, embracing New England and northeastern states. He is an electrical engineering graduate of Purdue and has been editor of various electrical and radio periodicals. He is 39.

Henry A. Bellows of Minneapolis, director of station WCCO, from the fourth zone, embracing middle-western states. Mr. Bellows, is 42, a Harvard graduate and former instructor there. He was editor of the Northwestern Miller for 11 years and during the war served as a colonel.

John F. Dillon, Los Angeles, radio supervisor of the department of commerce in the Los Angeles district, appointed from the fifth zone, embracing Rocky Mountain, southwestern and Pacific coast states. He is 61, served as a non-commissioned soldier for five years after 1894 in the army signal corps and again as a major in the signal corps in France during the war. Most of his service has been in the radio division of the department of commerce.

PORTER ARRESTED IN LIQUOR PROBE

DAYTON, Mar. 12.—John Heron, 50, porter at a local hotel, was held in jail here today on a charge of possessing liquor, although his arrest came several hours after federal operatives announced they were "through" with the prolonged liquor investigation which has been under way here several weeks.

NAVY IS RECEIVING DESIGNS FOR HUGE DIRIGIBLE AIRSHIP

Balloon Will Be Largest Ever Built Is Learned

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The United States navy is receiving designs and specifications for the largest rigid dirigible ever conceived by aeronautical engineers.

The new monarch of the skies, initial appropriations for which were approved in the session of congress just ended, will be 750 feet long, with a maximum "sausage" diameter of 130 feet. The cubic volume of its gas chambers will be 6,000,000 feet, against 2,300,000 in the Los Angeles, the largest dirigible now in service. The Los Angeles is but 660 feet from tip to tip and ninety-one feet through its greatest breadth.

General details of the latest naval dirigible undertaking were revealed today two days after the British air ministry had announced plans in the house of commons for two new sky monsters of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity.

In both countries, the projects had been under consideration for more than a year, but revelation of the exact limits of the building specifications came as a surprise bombshell to aero engineers.

Crafts of these dimensions, some engineers believe, represent advances in dirigible design only a little less revolutionary than the electrifying theories embodied in the first zeppelin, fifteen years ago.

CHICAGO STUDENT COMMITS SUICIDE

CHESTERTON, Ind., March 12.—McIntyre Harsha, 19, University of Chicago student, today was the latest victim of the suicide epidemic now sweeping American colleges, according to authorities.

Harsha's body, a bullet through the head, the right hand still clutching a pistol, was found on a lonely sand dune near here.

"Don't understand," said Dr. William T. Harsha, father of the boy, "You bring up your children the best you know how. You do everything for them. When they get to be 19 they get a gun and do this."

In Harsha's pocket was a newspaper clipping describing student suicides during the past several months.

Dr. Harsha said he knew no reason why McIntyre would want to kill himself.

FIND BURGLAR TOOLS IN WOODS

WILMINGTON, March 12.—Officers here are seeking clues to identify members of what is believed to be a gang of bank robbers, following the finding of a complete set of safe-blowers tools hidden in the woods near here. Although detectives watched the spot for several days after the find, nobody came to get the tools and they were finally removed to the sheriff's office. Later a gang of men in automobiles visited the spot, but escaped before the officers could be summoned.

INDIFFERENCE FOR VOTE ATTACKED BY CONGRESSMAN BEGG

Speaker At G. O. P. Dinner Praises Deeds Of Party

Congressman James T. Beggs, Sandusky, O., asserted that "every American citizen who does not vote ought to hang his or her head in shame," in an address before seventy-five Republican men and women at a banquet at the Elks lodge Friday night, sponsored by the Greene County Republican Executive Committee as a compliment to the County Central Committee.

"The worst thing I can think of today is the absolute indifference of American men and women to affairs of government. Of all countries granting citizens right of suffrage America has the lowest per cent of its eligible voters going to the polls.

"Twenty per cent, I believe, is the correct proportion. Our country is at the bottom of the list. There must be something found, some way to arouse service spirit."

A member of the house foreign affairs committee and regarded as a "power behind the throne," Congressman Beggs spoke with authority in asserting that with the exception of Japan no other governments in Europe have a semblance of stability.

"Portugal is aflame with revolution, Russia is unbalanced, the Orient is upside-down, Japan is the only government in a stable condition, and this is because the masses believe in the divinity of the soul of their dead emperor. Of course a government will be stable when it is its religion."

With countries to the south of us unable to recover their equilibrium and Canada the only peaceful one on the north; with that environment around us, I wonder that the people of this country can stand idly by and permit things to go on here that should not be tolerated for a minute."

The speaker defined the government of a Republic as being only a reflection of the ideals of those participating in this government and advocated two strong, healthy political parties in this country. "Italy is an example of weak

SENT TO JAIL

SANDUSKY, March 12.—Andrew Uncle, 17, Charles Vorhees, 18, and Carl Hilbold, 27, arrested at Lima by Lima police and turned over to Sandusky police Thursday, are doing thirty days each in jail here. They pleaded guilty to larceny when arraigned before Municipal Judge Claude J. Minor.

TRIO FACES IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE FOR MURDER ON HIGHWAY

CINCINNATI, O., March 12.—The reign of terror instilled along Hamilton County highways by a band of highway robbers was believed to have been forever broken today with three members of the gang facing life imprisonment for the murder of Mrs. Sherle Glardon, Cincinnati boarding house keeper, last January.

Late Friday, after William Anglian, 27, had been found guilty of murder in the first degree, with a jury recommendation of mercy, two other members of the gang, on trial for the same murder, were allowed to plead guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree. They were John Anglian, 26, William's brother, and Cecil Bennett, 28.

GANG CHIEFS KILLED IN CHICAGO STREET BATTLE

Suspect Shelton Gang For Slaying Of Saltis Henchmen With Machine-Guns—Police Suspect Rum Coup

CHICAGO, Mar. 12.—Two dreaded chieftains of gangland lay dead here today following a spectacular street battle between rival factions of bootleggers. Others may have been killed and wounded in the terrific battle.

Frank "Lefty" Koncil, chief lieutenant for Joe Saltis, recognized head of a powerful south side beer running syndicate, and Charles Rubec, alias "Big Hayes" are the men known to have been killed.

The bodies of Koncil and Rubec, riddled by the machine gun bullets, were found in the street at the corner of Ashland Ave., and Thirty-ninth St., near a Lincoln sedan identified as the property of Joe Saltis.

The scene offered evidence of the terrible battle that had been enacted. The big car was literally shot to pieces. Inside the sedan floor was covered with shot gun shells and empty cartridges.

No witnesses to the battle have been found, but persons living in the neighborhood told police they heard a terrific bombardment that resembled a "magazine blowing up."

When a few daring persons ventured to the scene after the firing ceased they found the bodies of Koncil and Rubec.

Police believe the Koncil machine was speeding along probably with a cargo of Canadian ale, when it was overtaken by a car filled with rival gangsters. Koncil and Rubec are believed to have exhausted their store of ammunition during the battle and then to have attempted to escape on foot. Their bodies were several feet from the bullet riddled machine.

It is further believed that Saltis himself was in the car, as it was known he never permitted his favorite sedan to go on a trip without him. Police believe Saltis and several others of his henchmen may have escaped on foot. Whether any of them, or any of the gangsters in the attacking party, were killed or injured, is not known.

Police have launched a city-wide search for Ralph Shelton, deadly enemy of Saltis, and chief of a rival gang.

BRITISH SCARE OF CHINESE INVADING FOREIGN SECTION

Machine Guns Drive Off Soldiers — Fighting Is Slow

SHANGHAI, March 12.—The first brush between British soldiers defending the international settlement and Chinese soldiery occurred today when five hundred armed Shanghai soldiers attempted to march through the settlement. No shots were fired. The Shanghai troops retired sullenly before a show of force and machine guns placed at strategic positions.

The incident occurred at the Markham Road bridge. The municipal council had granted permission for a hundred unarmed Shanghai soldiers to pass through the international settlement. When five hundred armed men appeared instead the British sentries guarding the bridge called up reinforcements, who quickly placed machine guns in positions to sweep the road and bridge, and the Shanghai troops withdrew.

Reports from Soochow say heavy fighting is going on in the Yangtze sector where artillery is being used for the first time in the fighting around Shanghai. The nationalist troops have advanced to Pien-lung-jao, three miles from Wukiang, where 7,000 Shanghai soldiers are strongly entrenched.

An attack on Wukiang is planned immediately by the Chinese, simultaneously with a thrust toward Sungkiang. The Shanghai forces are ready for this move, having large reserve forces at Soochow, Changchow and Shanghai.

The battle is not developing as rapidly as had been anticipated, owing to the steady crizzle of rain. This being the second anniversary of the death of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, founder of the Cantonese government, 60,000 laborers in Shanghai suspended work to attend memorial services for the dead leader.

AMERICAN CONSUL ATTACHE KILLED

SAO PAULO, Brazil, March 12.—Herndon W. Goforth, assistant American consul here, died today as a result of stab wounds received at the consulate yesterday, inflicted by an American giving the name of David Canfield. Canfield was arrested.

Consul Goforth was taken to a hospital after the stabbing and an operation was performed in vain attempt to save his life. He died soon after the operation.

SAO PAULO, Brazil, March 12.—Firing two shots at his erstwhile sweetheart and probably fatally wounding her, David Gentle, 22, today, then turned the revolver on himself and with a shot through the head killed himself instantly. The victim of the shooting, Mary Arquilla, 17, is at the Rhode Island Hospital where she is not expected to recover.

SHOOTS GIRL THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

BARRINGTON, R. I., Mar. 12.—Firing two shots at his erstwhile sweetheart and probably fatally wounding her, David Gentle, 22, today, then turned the revolver on himself and with a shot through the head killed himself instantly. The victim of the shooting, Mary Arquilla, 17, is at the Rhode Island Hospital where she is not expected to recover.

VICTIM OF ATTACK

CLEVELAND, O., March 12.—Louis Larry, 50, is suffering from a fractured skull and three broken ribs as the result of an attack upon him by three men and a woman, he told police. The alleged assailants are in police custody today.

POLICE ARREST TWO AFTER PISTOL DUEL ON CHICAGO STREET

Tear Gas Subdues Companions—Third Prisoner Sought

CHICAGO, March 12.—Two of three condemned murderers who escaped from the Will County jail at Joliet were captured in Chicago after a gun battle today and the other was believed surrounded.

A cordon of police was thrown about the area in which Bernardo Roa made his escape after the taxicab in which they entered the city was intercepted.

Six condemned convicts in all participated in the jail break but three were captured after a tear bomb battle before they could escape from the prison building.

All were sentenced to hang for the killing of Deputy Warden Peter Klein at Statesville penitentiary during a jail break last May in which Nathan F. Leopold, killer of Bobby Franks, was repeatedly accused of having been the central figure.

When their cab was ordered to stop by a police automobile squad, the convicts opened fire and Policeman Grant fell. Marcinok was shot through the hip as he attempted to alight from the cab.

The three Mexicans then dashed down the street and police lost sight of them.

Rizzo finally was seen crouched behind a garage. Ordered to throw up his hands Rizzo fled through an arway amid a hail of bullets and sought shelter in a house below the level of the sidewalk near the garage.

As Rizzo rushed into the basement, he ran into Patrolman Cavanaugh. Rizzo raised his pistol to the policeman's head and pulled the trigger. The cartridge failed to explode and Cavanaugh then sent a bullet through Rizzo's body.

Torrez captured in the house where he had sought refuge, did not try to "shoot it out" with the police.

After his capture Torrez took police over the territory he covered after his flight from the taxicabs.

The prison garb he had discarded, together with the big blue revolver and a cartridge belt was in the house where he was captured. In a house across the street were found a pair of handcuffs and an overcoat which Torrez admitted having thrown away.

The three Mexicans, apparently with the help of confederates, broke their cell bars about one o'clock this morning, leaped out of the window and then returned to help their companions escape.

Overpowering the guard on duty, Charles Duschowski, Walter Stalesky and Charles Shader, the other condemned convicts, were then released.

John Krinich, the guard, was then forced to bring out the automobile of Sheriff Albert Markgraf, and drive them toward Chicago. For some reason the three American convicts did not accompany the Mexicans.

The three remaining convicts took complete possession of the prison and using arms given them by the Mexicans, locked the guards in cells.

The alarm had been spread and the jail was soon surrounded by police who threw tear bombs into it and quickly subdued the convicts.

A tremendous crowd, awakened by the shooting which preceded the capture of the prisoners, surrounded the jail despite police warnings that they might be killed.

Telephone calls to the old Joliet penitentiary and the new one at Statesville brought reinforcements. Other squads were sent out on country roads leading from Joliet toward Chicago.

When the warden's car broke down at Indiana Harbor the taxicab was commandeered by the Mexicans who proceeded to Chicago.

At 10 o'clock a dispatch from the island of Fernando de Noronha stated that Beires had not been sighted and ships had failed to report his progress. Beires had then been nearly eighteen hours out of Boloma and he had planned to make the entire flight in twenty hours.

MAY COME TO OHIO

The Democrats are said seriously to be considering taking their next national convention to Detroit. A second choice is understood to be Cleveland.

New York ranks as definitely barred not only for 1928, but for the future in general. "Al" Smith himself is quoted as having expressed the desire that Manhattan Island be eliminated from the national committee's convention plans, lest his enemies might think it too obvious an attempt to put him over.

The Democrats had a gorgeous time in San Francisco seven years ago, and the Golden Gate is once again a contender for their conclave. But there's the McAdoo angle to the California suggestion that probably puts it out of the running.

Atlantic City will shortly be in possession of the most gigantic convention hall on earth—a vast boardwalk temple capable of seating 45,000.

VARE AND SMITH ON PAYROLL

Senators-elect Vare, of Pennsylvania and Smith, of Illinois, despite the slings and arrows of slush-fund fortune, are now on the payroll of the senate and in the complete enjoyment of all the privileges and perquisites of full-fledged membership thereof. Their rights include premises in the marble senate office building. Vare has been assigned suite 333, which by the irony of fate, he will inherit from one of the Democratic senators who will be in the forefront of the fight to oust the "zero boss" when the latter seeks to take the oath next December. Smith has been allocated 233, which happens also to be the offices hitherto inhabited by a prominent anti-slush senator—"Young Bob" La Follette, of Wisconsin, and of the Reed investigating committee. Vare and Smith began drawing $833.33 a month pay with the stroke of 12 high noon on March 4.

NEWSPAPERS IN HIGH SCHOOLS

"Any teacher who sees a student with one of these tabloid newspapers will tear up the newspaper and hand the boy a cake of soap. The student will then proceed to wash his hands at the nearest lavatory."

That was the recent decree of the principal of a high school in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Without at all approving of the tabloids for school or home or any other consumption, an interested outsider nevertheless wonders whether the principal has chosen wisest method of eliminating them from his school, where he is said to have noticed "everal" students looking at them. Keeping the pupils so busy with interesting and legitimate occupations that they have no time on inclination for tabloids might seem a better psychological approach than the soap and hand-washing method. Also teaching them to read the regular newspapers, stimulating discussion of important news, using decent papers as supplementary reading and a distaste for the obnoxious sort.

A JURIST STILL ACTIVE AT 86

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, "dean" of the United States Supreme Court, on his 86th birthday finds himself laden with national honors, richly deserved.

By general consent, this elderly gentleman, son of the original Oliver Wendell Holmes, and no less beloved than his famous father is rated as the foremost living American jurist. And this not on the basis of past work, done in middle life, but on the solid basis of the work he is still doing. It seems to be the literal truth that Justice Holmes' prime of life is now. No other member of the Supreme Court, it is said, does more work or better work. No other seems to have the facility off this octogenarian indigesting a difficult case and writing his opinion.

When asked recently when he expected to resign, he replied: "Not until the Almighty himself requests it."

The Almighty evidently reluctant to part with so useful a servant.

SACRIFICE TO EGOTISM

The shipwreck of appropriation bills and constructive measures in the Senate is impressive in its scope. Not to dwell on the distressful condition in which the army and the pensioned war veterans are left, nothing is done about reducing postal rates, authorizing new public buildings, granting funds for buildings previously authorized or settling the alien property claims, which have been hanging on fire for years. Many important inquiries die a-borning. The richest nation in the world, with its treasury bulging with money, cannot pay its bills for lack of legislative authority.

These vital matters were sacrificed to the egotism of filibustering senators who evidently considered their personal or factional interests and grudges more important than the public welfare. Also to the stupid refusal of the Senate as a whole to apply its emergency rule for the limitation of debate.

The United States is, as Vice President Dawes told it at the close of this disgraceful chapter, "the only great parliamentary body in the world in which a minority can prevent a majority from exercising their constitutional right of bringing measures to a vote."

And we talk, in self-conscious superiority, of the inability of neighboring countries to govern themselves!

DIES IN DAYTON

Mrs. Kate Edgington, Dayton, died at the home of her brother, Arthur Taylor, Highland Ave., Dayton, Thursday. Death was caused by pneumonia and influenza. Mrs. Edgington was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Harley Devoe, Xenia. Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Oliver Fleming, near Wilmington. Burial was made in Springfield Cemetery, near Wilmington.

TO ARREST DRIVERS

DAYTON, Mar. 12.—Deputy sheriffs here have been instructed to arrest all persons failing to use auto light dimming devices when passing other vehicles on highways in this county. All cases of violations will be filed in probate court in future.

Spokesman for the President!

Keeping HEALTHY
by Dr. A. F. Currier

EMPHYSEMA
When pleurisy becomes chronic and there is more or less suppurative of the pleural membrane within the pleural cavity, the condition is emphysema. A moderate quantity of pus may be formed, settling in the lower portion of the pleural cavity and not causing any particular pressure effects by its encroachment upon the lung, or the accumulation may be enormous.

As the quantity increases, its level in the pleural cavity rises and the lung is compressed. Or there may be adhesions in different parts of the cavity, confining the pus in pockets and producing pressure unequally upon different portions of the lung.

The effusion of pus may be in one pleural cavity or in both, and the greater the pressure upon the lung or lungs, the greater the interference with breathing. The pus also varies in its virulence—the absorption of a small portion, in some cases, produces profound blood poisoning, while in others the absorption of a much larger quantity may not be seriously detrimental.

Empyema often follows exposure to heat, cold or moisture, the disease being announced as pleurisy with chill, fever, sharp pain in the side, difficulty in breathing, coated tongue, loss of appetite, constipation and general prostration.

It hangs on a month or two, the patient emaciates, sweats profusely, and has a painful cough; evidences abound that pus is being absorbed. The temperature continues high, respiration is rapid, and in many cases there is pronounced bulging of the sides, in which pus is accumulating.

Empyema is caused by some kind of infectious element, frequently the pneumococcus (the germ which causes pneumonia), or it may come from injuries to the chest or from some form of tuberculosis.

The question of treatment is most important in connection with this disease. Under the old plan the patient was usually allowed to die from slow poisoning and exhaustion; the doctors knew no better. If nature were favorable and made an opening through the skin at the bottom of the pleural cavity, or into the bronchial tubes of the lung, the pus drained downward and outward, in the first case, and was expelled upward through the lungs and mouth in the second case.

How strange it now seems that it was not recognized that the conditions were those of a poisonous abscess, which everywhere demands drainage! Drainage is the key to treatment, and the condition of recovery.

If the fluid is thin and watery, puncture of the pleural cavity at its lowest part, with the insertion of a drainage tube, may be sufficient. If the pus is abundant and thick; if, moreover, it is in pockets, a large incision must be made in the back, a portion of the chest cavity irrigated as occasion may require, and drainage tubes introduced wherever they may be necessary. As the discharge diminishes and ceases, the tubes are withdrawn and the openings allowed to heal.

Of course the patient must be kept as quiet as possible and the outlook frequently becomes very discouraging.

It is wonderful how many recover, if only they receive good medical and surgical treatment, good nursing and as much simple, concentrated fluid nourishment as they can be made to dispose of.

SIGNIFICANT SAYINGS OF THE DAY

"Under the czars we had an hereditary bureaucratic government for centuries—without a vestige of democracy. Today we have one of the people, which after its creation has turned against liberty and imposed itself on the people who sought liberty."—Alexander Kerensky, former Russian premier, now in U. S.

"We Americans are the greatest collectors in the world. We are the rag pickers of Europe, we are the dump prowlers of a poverty stricken and war-gutted world. Agents of our multi-millionaire B. V. D. kings scour the planet for first editions, Chinese prints, chunks of the Coliseum, unexcavated nymphs, Cleopatra's chemise, Homer's glass eye, Shelly's pants, Bismarck's beer mug, Gutenberg's printer's towel."—Benjamin de Casseres, American philosopher.

"Rejuvenation is a myth and the inevitability of old age must be fully realized, but prolongation of life with reasonable retention of physical and mental vigor, may reasonably be expected to follow a carefully lived life." The unattainable state known as rejuvenation may be approximated when right living is substituted for faulty habits. The changes wrought by substitution of wise for improper habits of sleep, diet and exercise afford a clew to the acquisition of uniformly good health and longevity."—Dr. Hugh C. Cumming, surgeon general of the U. S.

HERE'S A SUGGESTION

Editor of Gazette:
Now that the whole state is to have eastern time after April 3, why should not Greene Co. adopt the customs of Columbus and eastern part of the state and have 12 o'clock for noon instead of 11:30. Also let the schools begin at 9 o'clock and close at 4 p. m. Also morning church services begin at 11 o'clock instead of 10:30 a. m. No doubt all concerned would find that a better division of the day as they find it in other parts of the state. A READER.

PLANS WITHDRAWN FOR AMATEUR SHOW

After reconsideration, John T. Sutton, local home-talent theatrical producer, has definitely concluded not to proceed with his plans for staging the show "Yankee Rose," the World War musical play, under auspices of Foody Post, American Legion.

The performance may be seen by devotees of local talent productions at a later date this year but after careful consideration, its sponsors decided the field has become too crowded with amateur shows to be produced soon to warrant success.

When frying onions put a saucepan lid over the top of the frying pan. This keeps in the steam and flavor; it also makes the onions cook more quickly.

KELLYGRAMS by FRED C. KELLY

IRKSOME SIMPLICITY

I recently discovered a new golf club that can be adjusted to do the work of seven ordinary clubs. Having a friend who is an enthusiastic golfer, I hastened to notify him that he will no longer need to lug so many clubs with him.

I assumed that he would receive such tidings with great joy. But instead of being pleased over such news, he seemed to be secretly infuriated. He said he was sure the club I suggested would not be satisfactory. This at first was puzzling. I couldn't understand why a man should prefer to have the responsibility of golfing utensils weighing as much as an infantryman's outfit when he could just as well go bounding over the links, as care free as if merely carrying a cane.

After pondering over my friend's character and habits, I now understand why he prefers complications in his golfing. He gets his fun not so much from display of skill as from the sense of importance he feels at having a caddy trailing after him and doing most of the work. When the caddy offers him a certain club and he overrules the boy in favor of a different club, he sometimes has a glimmer in his eye such as I have seen men exhibit when going contrary to a waiter's suggestion in the selection of French pastry.

The point is that a game is more than a mere competition when it gives one an opportunity to employ assistants or bearers of burdens, and to be consulted about important decisions.

Playing golf with a single club, even a caddy bag, would be a little like suddenly dismissing all your liveried servants and living in one room. No matter if the room had new-fangled mechanical devices to provide every creature comfort, you would miss the grandeur of being boss of an organization.

MAKING MODERN MENUS

Veal probably is the least used of the meats on our menus although when it is cooked correctly it is both digestible and delicious in flavor. Braised veal makes a nice family dinner dish in substitution for chicken or roasts.

BRAISED VEAL
Take three or four pounds of shoulder of veal that has been boned. Stuff with poultry dressing. Insert strips of fat salt pork with the grain of the meat in parallel cuts about one inch deep and one inch apart. Tie securely, dredge with salt, pepper and flour, brown all over in salt pork fat and put in covered dish. Put two cups of stock made from the bones in a frying pan and bring to a boiling point. Pour over the meat with one cup of strained tomato, two slices of onion, one-half teaspoon of celery salt, cover and cook slowly for three or four hours. Baste occasionally and turn once or twice. Serve with a brown gravy to which has been added chopped ripe olives. Vegetables may be cooked around the veal, if so desired.

How about apple cake as a dessert for a change?

APPLE CAKE
Sift together two cups of flour, four tablespoons of sugar, four teaspoons of baking powder, one fourth teaspoon of salt, and put in four tablespoons of fat until the mixture resembles cornmeal. Add one beaten egg to one cup of milk, and lightly stir this into the dry ingredients. Spread thin in a greased pan and let stand while the apples are being prepared. Take three or four apples, the sort that are dry and firm, and cook quickly. Pare, core and cut the apples in wedge shapes about one-eighth to one-half inch thick on the outer edge. Arrange the apple slices in the dough pushing the thin edge into the dough a little bit and having edges overlap. Mix one-half cup of brown or white sugar with one to two teaspoons of cinnamon, sprinkle over the apples. Place in a moderate oven covering for the first ten minutes. Uncover and bake until the cake has been in the oven for twenty-five minutes.

We wish to call to the attention of the members and friends of the Colored M. E. Mission a slight error. We were listed in the A. M. E. mission in our article of March 11. But we are still the C. M. E. Mission, 822 E. Main St. J. H. Hargrave, Sec. Alvin Atkins, pastor.

Suppose that it were possible to play polo without so many horses and with no high-salaried attendants. Who would care to do it? We could all live more simply than we do, with fewer rooms in our homes and fewer clothes. But it isn't likely that any such movement will ever become popular. Complications in life may be burdensome, but they make us feel charmingly important.

How to Achieve Beauty

TAKING STOCK OF THE FUNDAMENTALS OF YOUR HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Rest and Relaxation for Beauty
Today, in concluding my week of chats on taking stock of the fundamentals of your health and beauty, I want to say a few words on the importance of rest and relaxation. No matter how much thought and attention you give to the other fundamentals of health and beauty, if you do not keep yourself relaxed or do not get the proper amount of sleep you cannot look or feel well.

First I want to say a few words on the importance of sleep. I know many of my readers, especially mothers of young children, will say this is virtually impossible. And to these women I am going to say that I know all about it. I have children and a home and a large business as well to direct, and yet I will not let these things "get me." And here is a little plan of mine that works admirably when I feel myself becoming tense. I stop whatever I am doing, go into another room and shut myself in there alone for ten or fifteen minutes, sit down and relax. By relaxing all over I mean make my body limp—loose all over. I even roll my head around on my shoulders as though I was a rag doll, and after I have done this for a few seconds my nerves begin to feel better, and after five minutes of what I call "instantaneous relaxation" I am ready to start all over again.

Another way to prevent getting your face.

As you undress relax—a warm bath will help you do this. Put on your nightgown and slip on your dressing gown. Sit down at your dressing table and close your eyes for a few minutes. Then proceed to cleanse your face with your favorite cleansing cream which you should remove with gentle upward motions using either a soft cloth or tissue cleaners. Then apply your cream with a purpose—this cream will depend on your particular type of skin. Pat and smooth this on with an upward circular motion.

Be sure to give attention to your neck. If it is inclined to be thin or stringy pat in generously your rich feeding cream and after this apply your astringent lotion.

Then as a last beauty act before you jump into bed brush your hair with firm upward outward motions twenty-five or fifty times. Now you are ready for your beauty sleep especially if you have been relaxing and thinking pleasant thoughts while you have been attending to your face.

The Theatre

An interesting psychological analysis is presented in the principal situation of the plot of "Prisoners of the Storm" starring House Peters, which appears at the Bijou Theater, Saturday.

It shows the changing mental attitudes of four persons, imprisoned in a tiny cabin in the north woods by a tremendous blizzard. The storm makes it impossible to leave the cabin for days and four humans, all of whom are practically strangers to each other, are forced to live in two small rooms together.

Starting off pleasantly, the air becomes tense as the storm's prisoners grow weary of their incarceration. Nerves are on edge. Manicisms and peculiarities, which would pass unnoticed under ordinary conditions, become matters of great moment. As the personalities begin to grow on the nerves of the others, quarrels, differences, bickerings develop. The ending of the tense situation provides a powerful and thrilling climax to the unusual tale, and its dramatic finish reaches the great emotional heights. The picture is based on the novel, "The Quest of Jean" by James Oliver Curwood. Peggy Montgomery plays the feminine lead, opposite House Peters and the supporting cast includes Walter McGrath, Harry Todd, Fred DeSilver, and others.

Atlanta, Ga., is in the midst of a row between church people and civic leaders over the question of Sunday movies. Civic leaders, including some of the biggest business men in town, take the stand that many visitors to Atlanta find it a dull place Sunday, with nothing to do except go to church.

The sponsors of the movement to open theaters on Sundays claim that due to the scarcity of means of recreation on the Sabbath, many people are indulging in "immoral conduct" and finding other means of diversion less desirable than the movies.

Churches and Sunday school organizations came right back and denounced the move "commercialize the Lord's day" and one resolution adopted by a Sunday School class as Wesley Memorial Hospital declared Sunday movies "would pervert the morals of the young people of Atlanta."

Hostelry manufacturers are slightly alarmed at one of Hollywood's new fads. Dainty actresses want to disport themselves without the encumbrance of stockings. But at the same time they don't want a bunch of men giving their bare and shapely limbs the once over.

Dolores del Rio has solved the problem one way. The pretty Mexican star draws a thin dark line on the flesh back of each leg, depicting the seam of a silk stocking.

Simple, isn't it. If the gown requires flesh-colored stockings, a flesh-colored piece of grease-paint is used. If a darker gown is worn, the line is shown with darker make-up.

As warmer weather comes and the very air is filled with shopping temptations, almost all men make a spring topcoat one of their first purchases. But I find that a good many of you stop right there without even considering the lighter weight, lighter colored accessories that contribute to the good-looking effect of the coat.

Last week I suggested to you three different types of coats that would be used for spring wear—among them you could select one suitable model.

Today I have shown you a selection of accessories that should accompany this outfit.

MERCHANTS CREATE CREDIT BUREAU IN XENIA; ELECT SOON

Xenia auto and accessory dealers are laying plans for establishment of a credit bureau, the combined of dealers to be known as the Xenia Auto Credit Men.

Permanent organization will be effected soon with election of officers and a board of directors.

The organization now boasts the membership of twenty-five Xenia firms including automobile dealers, garages, battery stations, tire shops and firms of like nature. It is hoped to extend membership to include all retail merchants in the city.

This credit bureau is designed primarily to eliminate poor credit risks. Temporary headquarters have been established at the Ankeny and Weaver auto firm, W. Market St., where Miss Lois Purdom is acting as secretary for collection and classification of information.

Firms becoming members of the bureau are supplied with credit ratings on new customers and all credit accounts are listed in card index systems furnished each dealer. This system expands as new accounts are given.

When credit is extended to a customer who expects to make time payments, the organization will have a record, through its index system, of whether the man may be expected to pay his bills with reasonable promptness.

In such cases where extension of credit to customers is regarded as a poor investment or through past experience, all firms in the association will adopt the policy of discontinuing his credit. The firms also will bind together in collection of accounts.

BOY SERIOUSLY HURT BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT

James Arthur Northern, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Northern, Fairfield Pike, was accidentally shot and seriously wounded by Leonard Crane, 17, neighbor, at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The Northern boy was rushed to McClellan Hospital here where surgeons were probing for the bullet Saturday afternoon and were unable to determine the extent of the wound. The bullet, from a .22 calibre rifle, entered the boy's right chest below the shoulder. Crane was prostrated after the shooting and could not give a clear account of the accident. He is believed to have been examining the rifle when it was accidentally discharged. A physician hurriedly summoned by the boy's parents, rushed the lad to the hospital.

The Northern family recently moved to the V. H. Moore farm on the Fairfield Pike, from Bellbrook. The Crane boy is a brother-in-law of the child's father. There are three other children in the family.

Cooking

With Gas

Because natural gas is concentrated heat, being about twice the value of the best manufactured gas, it will do more cooking than most people get out of it.

With the right appliances natural gas is the cheapest and most satisfactory fuel known. The right cooking appliance will always give a short, blue flame when adjusted properly. It is not necessary that this flame go up around the cooking utensil, but it is necessary to have its tip close to the bottom of the utensil.

Gaining Efficiency

Consequently all burners should not be over 1 1/4 inches from the cooking surface, and should be kept clean and carefully regulated to give the right flame, this regulation being accomplished by the valve and air shutters. A yellow flame is always wastefully; a flame that roars is equally wasteful.

Solid tops on cooking ranges waste much gas, the heat being deflected away from the cooking. Natural gas should always be burned with skeleton lids. Right appliances properly cared for not only give better results, but also make the gas bills less.

AGE DEVELOPING LONG DISTANCE CAR TO SUPPLY DEMAND

American automobiles are developing into the long-distance type of car; that is, cars capable of maintaining comparatively high speed for long periods, and doing it economically, both as to fuel efficiency and mechanical depreciation, while providing comfortable riding, says W. A. Wheeler, president of the Paige Co. The next great step toward this goal is to obtain high road speed at reduced engine speed, and this is about to be accomplished.

The long-distance automobile is the inevitable result of the linking together of the good roads of the United States. The good roads themselves resulted from the automobile; yet, paradoxically, the better the roads, the better the automobile must be to meet the greater demands upon it, in higher speed and increased travel. By the time the auto had been perfected to the point of withstanding the effects of rough highways, the roads were vastly improved, and the cars then had a reserve of strength and power.

WILLYS-OVERLAND SHOWS INCREASE IN PRODUCTION MARK

TOLEDO March 12.—With the production of 18,750 Whippets, Whippet Sixes and Willys-Knight Sixes during February and indications that March production will be approximately eighty-five per cent over the same month of last year, Willys-Overland has been forced to step its car building schedules ahead at a rapid pace to keep abreast of the influx of orders from all parts of the country.

The February production figures released this week by Willys-Overland officials shows an increase of sixty-two per cent over the production for February last year and an increase of sixty-two percent over February 1925.

To meet the increased production schedules thousands have been added to the working personnel, within the past few weeks 4,000 employees being taken on. This has brought the total force at the Toledo plant over the 14,000 mark.

LADY GODIVA RIDES AGAIN

Sensation of the annual ball of St. Martin's art school in London, was the costume chosen by Miss Sylvia Bergen. She is seen emulating famed Lady Godiva. (In 1040, one Leofric, Earl of Mercia, imposed cruel exactions upon his tenants which his lady besought him to remove; he said he would do so if she would ride naked through the town. For their annual class party the Juniors and Seniors of the High School this year are planning to present "The Pool," by Channing Pollock, and is regarded by show-going people as one of the most impressive dramatic productions ever presented in this country.

Despite the fact that the title suggests comedy, the production is of deep and serious import, mingling pathos and humor as in real life. The theme involves the struggle between capital and labor and the influence of the money power in the metropolitan church. The play deals in a masterly fashion with the struggles of human beings on the one hand to attain the ends of selfishness, and on the other to establish peace and good fellowship on earth. It is not only a remarkable dramatic gripping but true in every respect to present day life. Following is a synopsis of this interesting four act play which will be presented by the members of the high school on the evenings of Thursday and Friday, March 17 and 18.

Synopsis: Act 1.—The wealthy parishioners force the dismissal of the young minister, Gilchrist, played by Kneale Smith, because he insists on preaching about the strike; his fiancée, Clare Jewett, played by Elsie Landmood, dreading a life of poverty rejects him for the wealthy but dissipated Jerry Goodkind.

Act 2.—Finds the young minister along with other labor leaders, pleading with the capitalist, Goodkind, the elder, and Benfield, for justice to the workmen. The act reaches its climax when Jerry attempts to shield his relations with a woman of the street, Pearl Hennig, from his wife by fastening the guilt on Gilchrist. The part of Goodkind is played by Spencer Swigart, that of Benfield by Richard Edgington while Everett Gregg is Jerry. Joe Hennig, Paul Wright, also appears to accuse Gilchrist.

Act 3.—Is that of a settlement to settle labor troubles which Gilchrist, in house, sponsored by Gilchrist, in which he is attacked by a mob led by Joe Hennig. During the attack a little lame girl, Mary Margaret, Madoline Rhonemus, walks without her crutches and the ignorant mob subsides after the miraculous nature of the phenomenon is shown to them by Uman-ski, Paul Spittler.

In Act 4 the elder Goodkind offers Gilchrist $50,000 a year salary to settle labor troubles which Gilchrist refuses whereupon he is designated "the fool."

OLDSMOBILE SHOWS 1927 SALES EXCEED THOSE OF LAST YEAR

Increased sale of Oldsmobiles for the first two months of this year is evidence that the predictions of continued prosperity for this country during 1927 were based upon substantial reasoning. The sales of Oldsmobiles during January and February have exceeded those of the same months last year by a generous margin, factory officials report.

The February increase alone was 32 per cent over last year's sales. This gain is figured on retail sales only. These gains by Oldsmobile this year are of particular importance inasmuch as they are in excess of 1926 when the largest sales record of Oldsmobile's history was made. The 1926 sales totaled an increase of 38.15 per cent over those of the preceding year and was one of the outstanding advances in the industry.

Factory production of the Oldsmobile Motor Works is being increased—in fact has steadily been stepped up since the first of the year—to provide sufficient cars to meet consumer demand.

DODGE PRODUCTION MUCH GREATER THAN PREVIOUS RECORD

Dodge Brothers, Inc., last year sold to dealers 331,764 passenger cars and trucks, making 1926 the biggest year in its history. The gain over 1925, which was the company's best previous year, is 27.6 per cent. The 1926 record is remarkable as it surpasses the huge output of 259,967 cars and trucks in 1925 by 71,797 units and was made without the sales impetus which many companies gain from the frequent introduction of new models.

Dodge Brothers, Inc., rate of growth last year was nearly nine times as rapid as that of the automotive industry as a whole, which made a production gain of only 3.3 per cent over 1925. Figures compiled by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce for 1926 place production of all automobile manufacturers at 4,489,000 cars and trucks.

Graham Brothers, Inc., the truck division of Dodge Brothers, Inc., also made a striking showing with a gain over 1925 of 55.7 per cent in sales to dealers. The rate of gain was approximately eight times as fast as that of the entire truck industry last year. National Automobile Chamber of Commerce figures show that the output for the whole truck industry was seven per cent larger in 1926 than in 1925. Total sales of Graham Brothers trucks and motor coaches to dealers in 1926 amounted to 37,463 units.

MAGAZINE PAYS TRIBUTE TO LATE CHARLES ORR, FORMER XENIAN

"Cleveland Topics," feature magazine, devoted an article in praise of the late Charles Orr, Cleveland, former Xenian, who passed away recently.

The article has the following to say of Mr. Orr's life:

"A quiet, sincere, and well-beloved scholarly man was Charles Orr, who died Wednesday of last week."

"Mr. Orr came to Cleveland nearly forty years ago. He was born in Xenia, O., and was in his sixty-ninth year at the time of his death. Following his graduation from the Xenia High School, he opened a bookstore in that city and later went to New York and became associated with Brantano's, the well known publishers and importers of books. When he came to Cleveland in 1889 he became associated with the Taylor-Austin book store and some time later was made librarian of Case Library, resigning to become director of public schools, a position which he held for ten years."

"In all his various activities and business associations it was always as a book lover that Charles Orr was best known. He knew and undertook the choicest side of literature and, without running to fads or fancies, he was especially fond of the early nineteenth century essayists, particularly of such writers as Leigh Hunt, Lamb and Hazlitt. His judgment was excellent and his knowledge most extensive. His opinions were sound and were always based on genuine knowledge of his subject. Most appropriately, he was one of the founders of the Rowfant Club, and to the day of his death, held the sincerest and fullest love and admiration of the entire membership."

"Mr. Orr's character was distinguished by unassuming modesty, though his retiring disposition did not even in the remotest degree interfere with his utter fearlessness and delightful frankness. When called upon for an opinion, he had absolutely no other thought in mind than to convey the truth as he saw it. Consequently his opinions were highly valued and treasured by his innumerable friends."

"Mr. Orr was particularly fond of this section of the country and no one had more truly the real and admirable spirit of the pioneers of the Western Reserve than he. His distinguished Scotch ancestry gave him a poise and steadiness that went with him throughout life. Nothing could stampede him, nothing could make him false to his ideals. His work for the city, his hard and strange as it proved, he took just as seriously as his love for literature, and it surely must have been an amazing experience for many of the politicians who came into contact with him to find a man in public office who actually had no other purpose than to do his work honestly and well, without the slightest regard for his own advancement or for pleasing some political pet."

"The loss to his many friends is a very heavy one indeed. He had been so long a leading figure in literary circles in Cleveland that his passing away has created a very distinct gap that will not easily be filled. No one could come into contact with Charles Orr without feeling at once the tremendous sincerity and earnestness of the man, the immovable honesty and straightforwardness of his mind and the delightfully charming lovable traits of his heart and soul."

"Life is a very serious thing to handle properly. In this crowded hurrying business community we have all too little time to devote to other things than the great handicap race for dollars. And so it is that those of us who are privileged to know and love Charles Orr realize more each day the seriousness of what we have lost. He cannot be replaced. But fortunately his generous memory and the recollection of his delightful personality and exquisite sense of humor can never be taken away and will help as time passes to make somewhat lighter the burden of his loss."

GREENE COUNTY WAR VETERANS MUST DO WITHOUT PENSIONS

It is conservatively estimated that nearly 200 veterans and widows of veterans of the Spanish-American War, Civil War and prior conflicts in Greene County are vitally affected by the failure of the United States senate to act on the deficiency appropriation bill.

Interior department officials have concluded that there is no way to supply funds in the face of an expected deficit, for payment in May and June of Mexican, Civil, Indian and Spanish War pensions.

It is the intention of the department to make the payments for these two months as soon as funds for the next fiscal year become available July 1.

Officials have determined that May and June payments, involving all pensioners, would have required an appropriation of $37,200,000. After carefully assessing the effect of the senate's failure to pass the bill, local veterans conclude Greene County veterans and widows are hard hit since many of the survivors depend upon regular payment of pensions for sustenance.

The senate's failure to pass the deficiency bill was due to the drastic dilapidation on the boulder dam project which held up passage of this measure and many others until congress adjourned.

It is believed the approximately 200 veterans and widows in this county will feel the effect of the filibuster in not being able to draw their money promptly, of which nearly half of this number live in Xenia.

INDIFFERENCE OF PARENTS IS BLAMED FOR DELINQUENCY

CINCINNATI, O., March 12.—Contrary to the popular belief, it is not from the "broken" homes that juvenile delinquency springs most frequently, but from the homes which hold together, but which house parents who are indifferent and apathetic toward the supervision and control of the children.

This was the conclusion voiced by Miss Mary Edna McChristie, referee in the girls' division of Juvenile Court here, in a recent report.

"We notice a deplorable lack of curiosity on the part of parents concerning where their adolescent sons and daughters spend their evenings," said Miss McChristie. "There seems to be an apathy on the part of the parents that is dangerous to the adolescents. We forget that the child takes color from environment, and that the flappers and sheiks are as critical of their parents as their parents are of them. We fail to realize that these youngsters are rather keen and intuitive and occasionally analytical."

Last year, in 700 cases handled, the greatest percentage came from so-called "unbroken" homes, Miss McChristie said.

Risque plays and uncensored pictures, sex magazines, facetious comments on divorce and light treatment of marriage all contribute to help weaken the morale of the modern adolescent, she declared.

"DRESSING THE PART"

It's easier to understand how women can "set" the styles than how they can "stand" them. Since the long dress has come in for dancing a lot of knock-kneed women are heard and not seen! Nobody can say that women's legs haven't seen the light. But though they are wearing them shorter, they're wearing them shorter hours, too. With the long dresses which have come in for evening wear women are getting more domestic. Every other one is sweeping the floor! A girl can stay at a dance now even if she has a run in her hose. And she can do the "Black Bottom" without showing cotton tops. The man who doesn't take his girl out until after dark doesn't might absorb more. A collapsible tray on the front would be another good idea for those without laps. This cocktail dress might replace the old milkmaid costume, only the wearer could carry a pail of cracked ice. Some of the evening gowns have little mirrors sewn all over them. In that way a woman can see how she looks in her dresses! "stays" and they no longer park their corsets, they were lost in the last check room! After all, with all the "passing out" it's not such a bad idea to go out ready for bed! Now that women are wearing shawls over bathing suits a man doesn't know whether to wear a tuxedo or a bath robe. You can be in the swim and never move off the beach, if you have a

know her in long dresses and long hair. She "switches" on him in more ways than one! The "cocktail gown" has just been endorsed by Paris and we bet that it will be well christened. This is for wear in the afternoons before the dinner hour and may be "spotted" in all our best homes. Let's hope that the "dry" cleaners won't object to such "wet" trade! The cocktail dress is apparently not like any other, but it might be a good idea if it were trimmed with sponges so that the wearer

"stroke" of luck. Paris reports that skirts are getting shorter which ought to make all the husbands sit up and give notice! Not only that, but the women are going to wear trousers, according to famous dressmakers. Let's hope that they last, women are used to going "through" a pair of their husband's every day! In this case the one that gets up first will be the best-dressed and many a man who starts to pay his fare will draw out a lip-stick!

MIDDLETOWN, HAMILTON AND TWO DAYTON TEAMS SURVIVE

Middletown, Hamilton, Stivers and Steele High Schools earned the right to enter the semi-finals in the Class A division of the Southwestern Ohio regional tournament being conducted at the Dayton fairground coliseum, by virtue of second round victories Friday.

In the Class B division, Middletown, Tipp City, Eaton and Plattsburg emerged with victories and will fight it out Saturday in the semi-finals.

Stivers swamped Piqua 33 to 20 and Steele High came through with an entirely unexpected victory over Springfield, in an overtime affair, 35 to 34.

In the upper Class A bracket, Middletown took things easy in disposing of Urbana 24 to 14, but the strong Hamilton team was forced into overtime to top the fighting Norwood High 40 to 28. The teams were tied at 28 apiece at the whistle but Hamilton, with Hayes showing the way, stepped out to score twelve points in the extra session.

Hamilton and Middletown, both undefeated this season, met in the semi-finals Saturday at 1 p. m. Stivers and Steele competed at 3 p. m.

FAIR BOARD WILL AWARD CONTRACT

Contract for the erection of a new grandstand along the race track at the Xenia Fairgrounds to cost between $12,000 and $15,000, will be awarded at a meeting of the Fair Board Tuesday afternoon, it is announced by Secretary J. Robert Bryson.

The building committee of the board considered the bids of three firms submitted at a recent meeting, and recommendations made by this committee will probably be taken into consideration by members of the board when the question is put to a vote.

Firms submitting bids for the project are required to make a detailed plan of the stand as well as give lumber bids.

INTEREST HIGH

MANDAMUS ACTION REVEALS CHARGES AGAINST AULTMAN

A mandamus action to force the county board of education to conduct a hearing on charges against H. C. Aultman, county school superintendent, claimed filed with the board last January 4, has been filed in Common Pleas Court by a committee representing itself to be made up of interested citizens.

The committee is composed of Horace Anderson, Lela E. Bartlett, Mrs. Bell Mansfield, George Quayre, Ora Casey and Walter Hess, and is represented by Attorneys Frank L. Johnson and George H. Thorne. The petition alleges the board has refused and neglected to hear charges alleged in a statement signed by Ora Casey, as a representative of the committee.

The petition asks that Aultman be advised of the filing of the charges, that a hearing be held for hearing them and that upon a final hearing, Aultman be removed from office. Plaintiffs ask that a writ of mandamus be issued to force the board to hold the hearing. Members of the board of education, advised of the mandamus action Saturday afternoon, formally issued the following statement:

"In connection with the above, the county board of education states that it has faith in Superintendent Aultman and believe the accusations and rumors are absolutely false; and further states the matter will be handled according to legal procedure after having been officially notified."

Mr. Aultman has been county school superintendent seven years and has one more year to serve under his present appointment. In that position he has under his supervision approximately 5,000 pupils, of whom 500 or more are in the ten first grade high schools of the county. He has been prominent in educational councils in Ohio, was for five years a state school examiner and is a past president of the Western Ohio Superintendents' Round Table.

Political observers see in the whole and believe the discredit county school officials preparatory to the election of new members on the board next fall. It is predicted that there will be interesting developments in the case.

CO-OPERATION OF SCHOOL-P. T. A. URGED BY SPEAKER AT MEETING

"We need a broad outlook on education to get the best results for our children," Mrs. C. M. Valentine, state Parent-Teacher Association officer, Columbus, O., said in her address during the morning session of the county school and P. T. A. meeting at the Opera House, Saturday.

"The P. T. A. was organized thirty years ago for the physical, moral and spiritual advancement of children," Mrs. Valentine told her audience. "Face to face acquaintance is the cornerstone of the structure of education. The combination of parents and teachers enables the child to face the complex problems of life. The greatest community asset is the right type of people."

"The home and school determine the future. The P. T. A. insures children being taught to think soundly and righteously. The P. T. A. believes in an equal chance for all children."

"Modern civilization is going to make a deep impression on children now growing up. Some people place money as more important than people, and we need parent-power and teacher-power to combat against the mercenary influences. This is not a community effort, but national."

"Parents must take time to see that their children are getting the right upbringing and parents and teachers must unite for the good of the child."

The Opera House was filled with teachers and school patrons from over the county for the meeting. H. C. Aultman, county superintendent presided, and Horace Ankeney, Beaver Creek Twp., led the morning devotions.

NEW INDUSTRY CEDARVILLE HOPE

Rumors of a new industry for Cedarville are current with the announcement of the purchase of the C. H. Crouse property, on Miller St., that place by Carter N. Abel, who recently disposed of his holdings in the Abel Magnesia Co., Cedarville, which he originated and was a heavy stockholder.

Mr. Abel is said to have a patent on an electric kiln for the burning of what is known as dolomite, a product used in the manufacture of steel and refined iron. Mr. Abel has been at work for some time developing the new process, which has been approved by some of the largest steel companies in the country. It is said.

The Crouse property, also known as the J. D. Williamson home, consists of a large brick residence and large lot. The lot adjoins the Pennsylvania railroad, which would permit switching accommodations, if needed.

Mr. Abel left this week for Detroit on business, and details of his plans could not be learned.

Political observers see in the whole and believe the discredit county school officials preparatory to the election of new members on the board next fall. It is predicted that there will be interesting developments in the case.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young. To do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent. of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.
